

TheraPlate Goes the Distance at the American Endurance Riders Conference in Reno, Nevada

Reno, Nevada (March 2, 2018)—TheraPlate Revolution Therapy Platforms will be attending the American Endurance Riders Conference held in Reno, Nevada, on March 9th and 10th. A company dedicated to enhancing health and performance in horses of all disciplines, TheraPlate is known for showing their support at many equestrian events throughout the year, and they are excited to do so at the American Endurance Riders Conference.

Several prominent endurance riders who will be attending the conference are familiar with TheraPlate's products and have found them very beneficial for their horses. Valarie Kanavy who, among many accomplishments in the field, was a member of the 2012 U.S. Endurance Team for the FEI World Endurance Championships, has a number of horses in her program in Williston, Florida, that use the TheraPlate. "It works well," says Kanavy. "The horses that like it seem to get a lot of relief and pleasure with it. And it's easy to use. I use it for horses that I'm trying to get to grow a better foot."

Husband and wife team Jeremy and Heather Reynolds of Dunnellon, Florida, are also big users of the TheraPlate. The couple trains and conditions a number of horses at their facility, and are currently competing in endurance races about twice a month. With that much competition, maintenance is crucial. "We were using the TheraPlate daily especially on certain horses that were showing signs of soreness in their hocks," said Jeremy Reynolds. "We were too close to the event to treat the hocks, so we took them out of training and put them on the TheraPlate for 45 minutes a day. They were able to compete and looked amazing. We love the product." Heather Reynolds will be attending the American Endurance Riders Conference and looks forward to seeing TheraPlate representatives there.

With endurance racing, there is no room for error when it comes to care of the horses, and TheraPlate is proud to support the sport and its awesome competitors at the upcoming event. TheraPlate Revolution Therapy Platforms use low-intensity dynamic movement to increase circulation and muscle contractions. Standing on the TheraPlate will reduce inflammation and pain while simultaneously increasing circulation to speed the healing process. The platforms are beneficial for humans as well as horses, and especially beneficial for athletes such as endurance horses!
